

13th CZECH-POLISH-SLOVAK SEMINARIUM

Geography for times in disarray

Dvůr Perlová voda, Kostelec nad Ohří, Czechia, June 1st – 3rd, 2022

PROGRAMME OF THE CONFERENCE

June 1 st , Wednesday
13:00 to 14:30	Registration and coffee
15:00 to 16:30	Conference opening and the plenary session – chair: Ivan Bičík
Andrzej Kowalczyk: Tourist region - theoretical approach and practice Pavol Korec: Two worlds of Slovakia or Slovakia in the trap of globalization and democracy Jiří Blažek: Regional innovation systems and global production networks: contrasting or complementary policy implications?
16:30 to 17:00	Coffee break
17:00 to 19:00	Parallel sessions
Conference room A – Urban Geography I – chair: Waldemar Wilk Przemysław Ciesiółka, Ján Buček: Regeneration and urban governance in Central Europe. Experiences from Poland and Slovakia Luděk Sýkora: Spaces of social exclusion: the dynamics of socio-spatial inequality in Czech cities and regions 2015-2020 Adam Klsák: The diverse metropolis: Prague's minorities and foreigners in historical perspective Lenka Hellebrandová: What is the role of cities in Czechia in microregional development? Magdalena Fuhrmann: Gated settlements – whether they still have the interest of the inhabitants – the example of Warsaw Conference room B – Economic Geography and Regional Development – chair: Jiří Blažek Jaroslav Rusnák: Spatial distribution of automotive suppliers in Slovakia. National efficiency or interregional equity? Stanislav Kraft, Miroslav Marada, Jakub Petříček, Vojtěch Blažek, Tomáš Mrkvička: Spatiotemporal patterns of motorcycle accidents and their conditional factors: The use of KDE+ and two-step cluster analysis Jiří Hasman, Jonáš Suchánek, Kryštof Materna, Veronika Bernhäuserová, David Hána: How microbreweries flooded Europe: Mapping a new phenomenon in the beer industry David Hána, Kryštof Materna, Jiří Hasman: Distribution strategies of new and renewed regional industrial breweries in the context of Czech identity and the traditional beer market Martin Lepič: Accentuation of region as an identity and marketing strategy of breweries in Czechia Conference room C – Landscape and Rural Geography – chair: Markéta Šantrůčková Ivan Bičík: Driving forces in the Czechia's land use development Zdeněk Boudný, Lucie Kupková: The extinct landscapes of Czechia Justyna Ślawska, Katarzyna Szmigiel-Rawska, Sylwia Waruszewska: Tradeoffs between local government and interest groups in the land-use changes in Poland Pavel Raška, Vladan Hruška, Martin Dolejš: When downscaling turns the good into the bad and ugly: narrating the local land use conflicts resulting from (supra)national climate policies Tomasz Herodowicz, Piotr Lupa: Project TeRRIFICA as an example of citizen science implementation
19:00 to 20:00	Dinner
20:00	Venue orientation programme, sport activities and socializing

June 2nd, Thursday

7:30 to 9:00

Breakfast

9:00 to 10:45

Parallel sessions

Conference room A – Urban Geography II – chair: Przemysław Ciesiółka

Waldemar Wilk: Invisible economy in the city. Home-based businesses in three housing estates in Warsaw

Otakar Bursa, Luděk Sýkora: Young adults in the Prague metropolitan region: a ticking time-bomb in the light of methodological twists and turns in geodemography and demogeography

Tomasz Herodowicz: Life quality affected by green infrastructure – Polish cities' perspectives

Jozef Lopuch, Vendula Svobodová: Statues and sprays: Two cases of graffiti as spatial practice of resistance in Prague

Jan Piša, Tereza Grosse, Vladan Hruška: Combatting social exclusion in old industrial towns of northwest Czechia

Conference room B – Historical Landscapes Geography – chair: Pavel Raška

Marcin Wojciech Solarz, Marta Raczyńska-Kruk: Who were the 'Gluchoniemcy'? The history and meanings of the term

Tomáš Hejda, Zdeněk Boudný, Lucie Kupková: The decline of mountain chalet farming and land cover change in the vicinity of selected mountain chalets in the Giant Mountains and the Hrubý Jeseník Mountains from the middle of the 20th century to the present

Markéta Šantrůčková: Diversity of the historical cultural landscapes in the Czech countryside. Case study of the Kutná Hora region

Jan Szczepański: The Ukrainian microcosm of interwar "Polish" Lviv - how does geographical research facilitate interpretation and understanding of history?

Tomáš Zavadil, Vít Jančák: Agriculture and its role as an employer in rural areas of Czechia: the view of farmers

Conference room C – Tourism and Leisure I – chair: Andrzej Kowalczyk

Małgorzata Durydiwka, Renata Krukowska, Alina Zajadacz, Katarzyna Duda-Gromada: Directions of summer holiday trips of inhabitants of large cities in Poland during COVID-10 pandemic time

Dominik Rubáš, Tomáš Matějček, Roman Kroufek, Tomáš Bendl: Is the cadastral boundary enough for us?

Marta Derek, Sylwia Kulczyk: How local is local fish in Masuria? Linking tourism and biodiversity in a nature-based destination

Michaela Štěbetáková, Štěpán Hladík: Tourism vs. nature conservation in the European context

Lukáš Nekolný: Is the Richness of Animal Taxa in European Zoos Decreasing?

10:45 to 11:00

Coffee break

11:00 to 13:00

Parallel sessions

Conference room A – Regional Geography and Global Studies – chair: Marcel Horňák

Barbara Konecka-Szydłowska, Katarzyna Kulczyńska, Jan Hauke: Socio-economic differentiation of the regions of the Visegrad Group

Paweł Churski, Robert Perdał: Geographical differences in the quality of life in Poland - challenges of regional policy

Izabela Gołębiowska: Toward linking coordinated views geovisualizations with cartographic semiotics

Małgorzata Klein: Does development assistance benefit Madagascans? Spatial and econometrics analysis

Josef Novotný: Women and sanitation change

Conference room B – Human Geography – chair: Pavel Chromý

Radim Perlín: Local culture after pandemia

Tomáš Havlíček: Regional differentiations of religious aspects according the 2021 census in Czechia

Tomasz Wites: Crime prevention through environmental design – what geography can do?

Alexandra Seidlová: A border as a factor of territorial changes in the Polish Ukrainian borderlands and their perception by the local citizens

Marta Derek, Sylwia Kulczyk, Tomasz Grzyb, Edyta Woźniak: How to measure human-nature relationships?

Conference room C – Tourism and Leisure II – chair: Małgorzata Durydiwka
Veronika Marianovská, Marek Neuman: Short-term rentals and the city of Prague: The comparative analysis of the development and regulations
Tomáš Burda, Veronika Židová: The importance of transport for tourism management
Dana Fialová, Jiří Vágner, Zdeněk Kučera, Přemysl Štych: Changes in tourist and recreational function at the Orlik lake on the Vltava river
Ewa Kacprzak: Allotment gardens in small towns in the time of covid-19 pandemic - insights from Wielkopolskie Voivodeship, Poland
Aleksandra Korpysz-Wiśniewska: Literary tourism and the COVID-19 pandemic
13:00 to 14:00	Lunch break
14:00 to 19:30	Excursion (snack included): Diversity of landscapes in a contested region
NW Czechia and the Ústecký Region (Ústecký kraj) in particular, has undergone a series of socioeconomic transitions over the last two hundred years, all of them underpinned with specific human value orientations regarding the environment, and having distinct impact on the use of landscapes. From its industrial rise to the recent ‚just transition‘, these changes always posed challenges for local society, economy, and the environment. During the excursion, we will visit both well and less known sites narrating these transitions and challenges. These sites will include agricultural areas of the so-called Garden of Bohemia (Zahrada Čech), open-pit brown coal mines, as well as resurrecting recreational sites in mostly industrial landscapes. The journey will lead us from the lowlands of the Ohře River, across the volcanic hills of the České středohoří Mountains, to vast coal basins surrounded in the North with one of the oldest state boundaries in Europe, the range of the Ore Mountains.
20:00	Grill dinner
June 3rd, Friday
7:30 to 9:00	Breakfast
9:00 to 10:30	Parallel sessions
Conference room A – Regional Geography II – chair: Stanislav Kraft
Julita Łukomska, Wojciech Dziemianowicz, Magdalena Cybulska: Geographical proximity and municipal development factors in different dimensions of dualisms
Miroslav Marada, Marek Komárek, Michal Kowalski: Occasional business trips: What we know about them from big data on the route Prague - Brno - Ostrava
Richard Hluško, Marcel Horňák: Public transport accessibility: Geographical reality in Slovakia (case of Trenčín Self-Governing Region)
Izabela Karsznia: The use of data enrichment and machine learning in cartographic generalization. Case studies of settlement and road network automatic selection for maps at small scales
Conference room B – Political Geography – chair: Pavol Korec
Tadeusz Siwek: An attempt of electoral geography of Czechoslovakia and Poland in a period of communist rule
Radek Pileček: The influence of local candidates on voter decision-making in the Czech parliamentary elections
Geti Mubeenová: Constructed "others" - National identity politics in Pakistan
Libor Jelen: Russian geopolitics in the near abroad
Conference room C – Metropolitan Geography – chair: Luděk Sýkora
Paweł Churski, Czesław Adamiak, Anna Dubownik, Maciej Pietrzykowski, Barbara Szyda: The inner peripheries in Poland in the system of multidimensional spatial development differences – old wine in a new bottle?
Martin Ouředníček: Who are the users of new residential projects in Prague Metropolitan Area?
Dorota Mantey: Neighborhood satisfaction in the context of retrofitting suburbs
Jolanta Korycka-Skorupa: Combining multiple map types on one map - what, when and why?
10:30 to 11:00	Coffee break

11:00 to 12:30	Parallel sessions
Conference room A – Regional Geography III – chair: Josef Novotný Magdalena Cybulska, Wojciech Dziemianowicz: Factors of the development of communes in various dimensions of dualisms in the light of the opinion of local authorities Magdalena Fialová, Pavel Chromý: Invisible agents in regional development: Individual stakeholders as a success factor of regional product labelling initiatives Agnieszka Latocha, Katarzyna Kajdanek, Paulina Miodońska, Dominik Sikorski, Robert Szmytkie, Przemysław Tomczak: Diverse pathways of rural transformations and their driving forces in the peripheral mountain areas in SW Poland. Klodzko region case study. Paweł Motek, Bartłomiej Kołsut: Local tax havens? Vehicle tax and tax base mobility in Poland Conference room B – River Landscapes Geography – chair: Sylwia Kulczyk Iga Ajdacka: The use of data enrichment to improve map specifications and river selection at small scales Tomasz Grzyb: What, where, and why do residents experience in the urban riverscape? Insights from the PPGIS survey Tereza Kůsová, Dana Fialová, Martina Tůmová: The Moldau river in service of society Martin Dolejš, Pavel Raška: 'Built-up floodplains': spatial proximity, sprawl, and the equifinality of the Central European floodplains Conference room C – Didactics – chair: Miroslav Marada Dana Řezníčková, Miroslav Marada, Tomáš Bendl: Geographical education in the Czech Republic at the beginning of the curricular revision Veronika Bernhäuserová, Lenka Havelková, Martin Hanus: Perception of the limits of GIS implementation in education: Comparison of Czech and foreign in-service and pre-service teachers Matěj Vrhel: Quality of geography teaching in Czechia and Ireland
12:30 to 13:00	Closing session
13:00	Final lunch and departure

BOOK OF ABSTRACTS

